Gail Price-Wise, President
Florida Center for Cultural Competence, Inc.

Dear Gail,

I was privileged to participate in the “Managing Your Prejudices” workshop you facilitated recently for the JAM & All Interfaith annual planning meeting. As part of a diverse group which included Jews, Muslims, Christians and Buddhists, I learned so much from your lecture, from the carefully planned exercises, and from the lively interaction among people of different faiths. The program was well-designed, well-presented, and quite thought-provoking.

Moreover, you created a welcoming environment in which most of those present felt safe to engage in topics and issues that could have been far less comfortable with a less skilled facilitator. You are not only skilled, you are a knowledgeable, inspiring and perceptive presenter. Thank you for an informative, engaging and profoundly important workshop.

Sincerely,
